March HIGHLIGHTS

Orthotics & Prosthetics Career Talk

Alex Barrett and Fiona Pieterse, residents of the Orthotics & Prosthetics program at URM, gave a presentation on the field of O&P on March 25. Orthotics are devices designed to improve the function of movable parts of the body by addressing components including alignment and support. Prosthetics are customized artificial limbs and body parts that typically support individuals with amputations and/or lost in function of certain areas of the body.
